Introduction

This is a love letter, and a story about Human Beings. A story about every Human Being that has ever come into existence. A story about YOU and ME. A story about truth and reality. A story about time and eternity. A story about life and death. So, it is this author's prayer that the information presented, will not be frivolously laughed at, or ignored, nor dealt with in a cavalier manner by YOU, the one who is reading this right now. And because of the sensitivity of the subject, we will not be beating around the bush, or going down the emotional corridor of Amw . . . poor thing.

Sadly, there are certain things that Human Beings do not take very seriously, until it is far too late. And indeed, this story does have a point of no return.

This author is wide open, to whosoever may be able to present a solid case showing how there is no validity in this story. I challenge YOU to do so. Otherwise . . . give some serious, sober, time of thought, to this simplistic tale, which relays a very real truth. And then know that from the moment YOU have finished reading this short story there will no longer be any acceptable excuses for your lack of understanding as to how things actually work. For then as YOU stand before the Living God of all creation, your denial, ignorance, or feigned declaration, that things do not really work that way, and the outcome should be different will fall upon deaf ears . . . well aware that you now know better.

Enjoy this story, consider what is said, and then please act upon the option that is given unto YOU at the conclusion of this work.

Maranatha!

The Prelude

From as far back in time as this author can remember, whenever a brand new Human baby was birthed onto this planet, references have been made, by other Human Beings, as to how precious the new little one was; or of the professed innocence that was declared concerning this new life; or what a cute bundle of joy was smiling from within the warm receiving blanket.

For the sake of our story, we will draw from the terminology of the Human bundle, and henceforth refer to that specific bundle that we will be talking about, which includes YOU, as the package.

Now, the subject of physical DEATH is quite real. It is not a very popular subject, but that does not mean that physical DEATH is not real. Contact a dear friend, who has physically died recently, and ask them if DEATH is something that is real. Contact departed grandpa, or grandma, or auntie, or nephew, or a neighbor, or a movie star, or a famous politician, or a leader of a nation, or a king, and ask them if physical DEATH is something that is truly real, or not.

And if YOU are not able to personally contact them, and substantiate concerning their own unique testimony, as to whether or not physical DEATH is something real, then please, let us not attempt to politically correct ourselves into deception, concerning this issue.

Are you anxious, or afraid, or personally upset yet? Has a fear of the unknown darkness blatantly attacked you, concerning what we are talking about? Have you decided, even before we get to our simple Story, that these issues are just too sensitive and scary, because they might challenge the misconceptions, misnomers, lies, myths, and other ideas that you have come to believe in, and rely on, during our short tenure on this planet? Are YOU able to sum up enough courage to read through this harmless little booklet . . . or are YOU finished?

Now . . . the Devil is another subject that is quite real. He does not necessarily like the spotlight to be turned upon him, and expose him for who he really is, but that does not mean that he does not exist, and is not real. And what YOU may personally believe, concerning the Devil, has nothing to do with it whatsoever.

You may believe as other men have in the past that the moon is made out of green cheese, or that aliens built the pyramids, or that the theory of evolution is based upon valid science . . . but the moon and the pyramids and creation realities do not care one whit what YOU believe.

Contact someone credible who knows about spiritual truths. Contact someone who has spent much more time and energy than YOU have, on subjects of an invisible nature, and ask them what they know about the subject of the Devil or Creation.

Or maybe . . . there really is no absolute truth at all. Maybe there is nothing that is the baseline; nothing that is foundational. Maybe the Devil really is a figment of someone's imagination. Maybe the Devil and his fallen angels and the other holy angels and God Himself are not real, and there is nothing of a definite certainty, except the indisputable issue of physical DEATH.

Is that the position that YOU would prefer? Do YOU really want to base your entire existence on shifting sand?

* * *

Rest assured that a specific location within the bowels of this planet Earth, called HELL, is quite real. It is a subject of controversy to be sure. Many times the same Human Beings that believe in evolution, also choose to believe that HELL is not a real place, but rather is figurative. After all, if the God that we hear so much about is really a God of love, then why would a heinous complex like a fiery, tormenting HELL be needed?

Don't all Human Beings, when the specter of physical DEATH arrives, simply whisk off into heaven (if it too really does exist)? Isn't the solace of mental and emotional tranquility available, concerning the afterlife when the ugliness of DEATH's finality, rears its sin-scarred head? How about soul-sleep . . . should we choose that option? Or maybe, if we have been good enough, we will find that we have earned our wings, and shall now become some holy angel, and shall try to help others in need.

Finally, God, The Creator, is another subject that is quite real. And the God of incalculable love, who gave all He had in order to specifically obtain YOU, is not trying to hide or make Himself scarce. He is right out in the open, and He wants all Human Beings to know about Him, and to know what He has done. In spite of the spiritual innuendos, outright lies, doctrinal falsehoods, and projected deceptions, He has not changed, nor altered the magnificent plan that He has put forth for all who would be willing to listen to Him. Will YOU be willing to listen?

Do YOU know God personally . . . or do you only know about God? Can YOU give this author a bevy of collected information, that years of table-talk, or childhood remembrances, or promoted falsehood, have formulated? Or, can YOU personally introduce this author to the Living Lord of Hosts, just like YOU would introduce him to one of your relatives, or good friends?

The Story that follows is designed to present a simple illustration of spiritual realities. Our prayer is that spiritual insight may be granted by the Holy Spirit of Truth Himself, to every reader of this work, that none should perish but that all would make a wise decision for life evermore, including YOU.
